

THE MAN.

NO. 8—VOL. III.

NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 9, 1834.

PRICE ONE CENT.

Working Man's Advocate. (NEW YORK.)

Seeing that great efforts are being made by the TORYS to circulate their leading papers (particularly the Courier & Enquirer and the Albany Evening Journal) throughout the state, at a reduced price, PREPARATORY TO THE FALL ELECTIONS, it has been suggested to us to state that a large DEMOCRATIC paper of the above title is issued from the office of the (daily) MAN every Saturday, which contains nearly all the matter published in the MAN during the week, at the rate of Two Dollars a year, or One Dollar for six months, in advance.

For One Dollar, therefore, persons in the country may be furnished, from now till after the fall elections, with a paper containing all the passing news of interest, a variety of literary extracts, and a mass of political matter necessary to enable them to exercise the right of suffrage at the approaching elections to the best advantage.

THE WORKING MAN'S ADVOCATE is securely wrapped and carefully directed to any part of the United States. The postage to any part of this state one cent; out of the state (if over 100 miles) one cent and a half. The paper has been published nearly 5 years, and has a circulation at the present time of Fifteen Hundred.

* * * Editors of country papers to whom the above advertisement is sent marked, and who will give it at least three conspicuous insertions, will receive the MAN daily until the 1st of January next.

The extensive sale which the Instruments of their manufactory have had throughout the United States for some years, has made them so well known as to preclude the necessity of saying anything with regard to the quality of the Instruments bearing their name; they can only add, that the result of many years' experience in this branch of manufactory, added to the extended scale, they are prepared to carry it on, will enable them to offer advantages to purchasers equal to any other house in this Union.

FOR "THE MAN."

FELLOW CITIZENS—For the first time, in my life, I undertake to address you through the medium of our public prints, and I'll assure you that I feel sensibly inadequate to such an enterprise; but, the spirit of our forefathers who fought and died in the cause of liberty, the sound of which vibrates through every vein of the Democrat, prompts me to say a few words, by the which your minds may be fortified and your hearts encouraged. On the first of Nov., you well know, that a formidable enemy is to be encountered, and in case it should prove a winter's campaign, they have provided themselves with wigs, in order to baffle the pending storm; but, although they may console themselves with such comfortables, yet the spirit of the unclad heads and shoeless feet of '76 must and will prevail. Although you still dwell fearlessly in the temple of liberty, yet slothfulness on your part would enable the car of Toryism like that of Juggernaut to carry away the main pillars and trample your rights and privileges under foot. Go, then, like true republicans, and cast your mites into the ballot boxes, and reflect that they will count as much as the contributions of those who possess abundance; and at the same time keep your eye steady on that luminous orb, Andrew Jackson, who, like the star in the east, has directed you in the course to pursue.

A TRUE DEMOCRAT.

FOR "THE MAN."

NEWARK, Aug. 30, 1834.

Mr. Evans—I have just been informed that a certain Torywig firm of this town (the employer of many hands) has had the benefit of a poor man's labor for many months at nine shillings per day. One pass book had been filled up; a new one was got, with the supposition (on the journeyman's part) that the wages were to continue the same. A few days since he made an engagement in New York for twelve shillings, and informed his employers of it, who were highly offended. A time was appointed for settlement; the man attended at the office, and there in the presence of a Torywig constable, (the man being a foreigner, unacquainted with our ways,) was frightened into a settlement at the rate of six shillings, thereby suffering a loss by barefaced robbery, of between 30 and $40. At a previous settlement, an attempt was made to cheat him out of $7, but a friend accidentally discovered it after he had taken his book home. He says if there is justice in this his adopted land, he will try to obtain it. He will have the influence of some hard money friends: we have some such here, who are the poor man's comfort in such times.

JUSTUS.

FOR "THE MAN."

Mr. Editor—I wish you would inform me, what is the meaning of the words Whig and Tory in this country? I have always thought, that a whig was a friend and a tory an enemy, to his country; but, alas! how the meaning of words change. Andrew Jackson is a tory, and an enemy of his country, and the Traitors of '76 have become its staunch friends! Jackson, Johnson, and Benton, have become the enemies of their country, and Webster and a host of insignificant names of Hartford Convention men, have become the real friends of the republic! Really, Mr. Editor, I can but smile at their presumption, but the time will come when the people will be awakened to their true interest.

Yours, Mr. Editor,
A POOR MECHANIC.

AUBURN, August 29, 1834.—Murder in Auburn Prison.—A sad affair took place at the State Prison yesterday. While some of the convicts were at work cutting and splitting wood in one of the back yards, a dispute arose between two of them—one became so enraged at the other that with one blow with his axe he literally split his head open—he died immediately. Alas! poor short-sighted man: as if his chains were not riveted tight in the walls of a prison, he must now end his career on the gallows.

THE NEXT ELECTION.

Say whatever the Bank men please about it, there is no disguising the fact that the present contest is one between the U. S. Bank and the people. Every day makes this fact more apparent. On the part of the Banks are arrayed all the aristocracy opposed to popular government, including all those who live without labor, on the labor of others—the money lender who grows fat on the necessities of society, the commercial speculator who wants banks to enable him to monopolize, and others with no less injurious objects in view, are now fighting in its ranks. They are, however, not willing that the question in dispute shall be presented fairly. They are not willing that so far as a currency is concerned, it shall be put to the people whether they will have a Constitutional gold and silver currency, or an unconstitutional rag money currency. Whether they will have a metallic currency possessing an intrinsic value, and therefore not liable to any fluctuation, or a paper currency of no real value, and its nominal value constantly changing. A paper currency, too, which in all its ramifications, is now robbing the honest laborers of every class of a large portion of the proceeds of their industry. A paper currency which makes a promise to pay, a payment in fact, and which, contrary to all reason and justice, exacts and receives interest on this very promise. A currency which, view it in whatever way you please, is productive of evil. Its own radically dishonest character, bad as it is, is but an item in the whole account against it. Innumerable evils, national and individual, follow in its train, and these have now become so alarming that they must be checked, or ere long we cease to be a free people.

It is, then, this question of currency that forms the great point in dispute between contending parties. The Jacksonites are strenuously contending for a Constitutional metallic currency, whilst their opponents of every kind are open advocates of the present ruinous paper currency, that now inundates our country and saps at the very foundations of our prosperity.

The privileged classes (as they are aptly termed,) will doubtless go to the death for the rag money currency, which enables them, booted and spurred, to ride over the mass of society. The Bank is the hobby of all these aristocrats, and we settle down to a man as opposed to our cause. But the people, the great mass of working men of every class, are not to be imposed on any longer by the fatal operation of the present banking system. They see and know that it has brought their government to the very verge of dissolution, and their liberties into imminent peril, and they now are determined to annihilate this spurious currency altogether.—Pittsburg Manufacturer.

A VESSEL FOUNDERED.—The Portuguese brig Funchal, Capt. Moniz, from Madeira, 47 days out, bound to New York, with a cargo of 300 pipes of wine, in crossing the Gulf Stream experienced very stormy weather, during which she sprung a leak, which was not perceived till the vessel was found to be in a sinking position; and every effort to save her proving ineffectual, she was abandoned on Sunday evening, Cape Henry distant 90 miles. The captain, supercargo, a passenger, and 15 seamen in the long boat, arrived at Old Point Comfort yesterday afternoon, and came up in the steam boat Old Dominion last evening. The mate and three seamen in the jolly boat, continued in company until Monday evening, when the long boat run them out of sight; they no doubt arrived at Old Point last night. We learn that the vessel and part of the cargo are insured.—Norfolk Herald.

SPECIE.—The ship St. Andrew has on board 40,000 sovereigns. The whole amount of Specie cleared at Liverpool for the U. States during the last week of July, was about £400,000 or near $2,000,000.—Jour. of Com.

THE CHOLERA.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

September 8—12 o'clock at noon.

In the city practice generally,	- - -	12 deaths
Duane street Hospital,	- - -	4
Greenwich Hospital,	- - -	1
Bellevue, do.	- - -	4

Total deaths, - - - - - 21

There were 67 interments in this city for the 24 hours ending yesterday noon, 34 of which were from Cholera, yet the Board of Health reported but 21 deaths from that disease.

THE DEDHAM (MASS.) PATRIOT, a Torywig paper, publishes our advertisement of the Working Man's Advocate, with the following introduction:

"Working Man's Advocate."—We have received a few numbers of this paper, published in the city of New York; it professes to be devoted to the cause of the Working Men, but is strongly tinged with the spirit of Jacksonism, otherwise we think it would be quite a decent paper. We cannot refuse, however, on that account to comply with a request to give publicity to the following Circular; it may be that its political caste will not be any objection to some in this quarter. Sorry the editor cannot spell the word Whig.

Will the Dedham Patriot be kind enough to inform us how we could be "devoted to the cause of the Working Men" without being "tinged with the spirit of Jacksonism," so long as Jackson is so strongly tinged with the spirit of workism? As to the fault he finds with our orthography, we can assure him that the omission is intentional. If there is such a thing as blasphemy, it would be blasphemy to apply the term "whig" to the advocates of a Bank. Tories they are, and a Wig is their disguise, therefore the most fit name for them is Torywig, and no other they shall have from us.

THE STAR makes a terrible call upon the mechanics to turn out at the coming election, especially the wig tailors (if there are any besides Hoxie). He says, "We hope to see them attending the polls, threading every street and avenue in the city in order to bring up electors. No doubt the editor of the Star, as well as some others, would like to see the working men doing their dirty work in the "streets and avenues" to further the advancement and interest of a few aspiring demagogues who seek to deceive the people by changing names every year or two; but the motives of the opposition are well understood, and mechanics and working men are neither to be coaxed, lashed, led, or driven from their principles, "any how you can fix it." If the republicans agree upon a ticket that is purely democratic, (and that cannot be done unless the working men participate in it,) if those selected for office are opposed to ALL monopolies, opposed to legislating for a few to the exclusion of the many, and are ready and willing to say so in black and white, the result of the election is as easily told before the ballots are deposited in the boxes as afterwards; but unless those things are done and complied with, the working men have an abundant capital to commence business with, (as they most assuredly will,) "ON THEIR OWN HOOK."

The Albany Microscope is mistaken in supposing that Mr. Iles, who was mobbed by the temperance fanatics of Bloomfield, N. J., retailed liquor. He retailed nothing but beer, though he sold liquors wholesale. We have not heard that the man has been compensated even for the loss of his property.

The election in Maine took place yesterday. Mr. Marsh will prepare Castle Garden for the celebration of a wig victory, on Monday week.

A grand procession in commemoration of the death of Lafayette took place in Boston yesterday.

POST AND STAR.—On the propriety of the Merchants closing their stores during the Election the Post remarks, "We hope they may be induced to suffer the coming election to proceed in peace and quietness, as elections in former years have done, and leave the questions on which the community is divided, to be decided in the only proper way, by the calm and considerate exercise of the invaluable right of suffrage."

The Star in reply says, "shams where is thy blush!" If Webb, and Noah, and Redwood Fisher, can't kick up another row, and have an Arsenal fight over again, and "kill off two or three hundred of the d—d Irish"—what a "shame" it will be!

SEDUCTION AND DEATH.—On Sunday morning last, a young and handsome girl was brought to the Duane street hospital, from the steps of an assignation house in Mott street, in a state of collapse, and died in the course of the day. Whilst at the hospital she related to the attending physicians the circumstances connected with her attack, and ultimate death, than which we have seldom, if ever, heard a recital more heart-rending and horrible. She had long received the addresses of a young man of good family and insinuating qualities, who succeeded, after much entreaty and many promises, in enticing her to accompany him to the house before alluded to, where he procured a chamber, into which they retired for the night. About 3 o'clock she was attacked by symptoms of the cholera, which becoming confirmed and alarming, her seducer took to his heels and left her to her fate. No sooner did the heartless bawd into whose hands she had fallen, learn that the unfortunate girl was badly ill with that terrible disease, than she forced her from her bed, and thrust her into the street. The ejection of the sufferer was noticed by some persons who accidentally happened to be near, and who humanely took her from the steps and carried her to the hospital, where she lingered a few hours and expired. During her few last hours she incessantly wept and prayed, both for her own future peace and the welfare of her destroyer; and although she freely made known her own name, (which is one well known as that of a family of wealth and influence) she would not be persuaded to reveal that of her heartless and cowardly destroyer. We trust, however, it will yet one day come before the public, and retribution for his dastardly and villainous treatment of this fond and confiding victim will be meted out to him without stint.

DROWNING.—A small boat containing five persons (two of whom, we are informed were sons of the late Doctor Seaman, one Mr. Ogden Haggarty, another an aged man in the employ of Mr. Seaman, who was assisting a colored man in rowing the boat) put off from the country residence of Mr. Seaman, on the East River, for the purpose of putting the young gentlemen on board the American Eagle on her passage to this city from Throg's Neck.

The party attempted to go on board the steamer before instead of abast the wheels, and in the effort they all got on the edge of the small boat, and upset it—precipitating all on board into the water. An effort to rescue them was immediately made by the passengers and hands: but by some mischance the small boat of the Eagle was put adrift with no person in it, and floated off. Benches and other articles were then thrown over to them, and, with the exception of the old gentleman, they at length succeeded in saving themselves—Mr. Haggarty climbing up in the wheel. It was about twenty minutes after the accident before the body of the drowned man was recovered, at which time he was perfectly dead, and all efforts to resuscitate him were unavailing.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—On Sunday evening last about 10 o'clock, A lad was observed by a watchman standing near the Clinton Market to approach the edge of the dock at the foot of Spring street, and leap off. The watchman immediately sprung into a small boat lying at the dock, rescued the lad, and lodged him in the watch house. In the morning he was brought before the sitting magistrate at the police office, and in reply to the questions of the magistrate answered that his name was John Wilkins; that he was 17 years old last May, and was in the employ of Mr. Lorillard, tobacconist. He had formerly been living with a gentleman in Spring street, and fancying that he had heard, through a wall, that gentleman whisper that he would have revenge for the manner in which he had left his service, he thought he might as well die at once; with this conclusion he made his way to the dock and plunged in, when his suicidal design was frustrated as before stated. The decided appearances of aberration of mind which the lad exhibited at the bar, and which were confirmed by his previous conduct, induced the magistrate to recommend him to the attention of the governors of the hospital.

THIEVING BY A SERVANT.—A woman named Eliza Allen, was yesterday committed to Bridewell on a charge of stealing, entered by Mr. John Bardell, of No. 69 Chambers street. She had been kept in Mr. B.'s family for about a year past, more from motives of charity than from any particular benefit derived from her services, and she had in reality become a burden and nuisance, and repeatedly ordered away. She however had uniformly neglected to leave; and on Saturday last Mr. B. obtained the services of a police officer and had her ejected vie et armis. After her removal, Mr. B. thought it would not be amiss to see whether she had not amongst her luggage something which did not belong to her. Much clothing and money had mysteriously disappeared during the residence of Eliza in the family; but no particular suspicion had been fixed upon her. In her trunk were found pawn tickets received by her for four linen shirts; and, as that number of shirts had disappeared from the house at one time in November last, and more during August last, Mr. B. visited the pawnbroker who had issued the tickets, and found them to be those he had lost, with his name in full still remaining on them. Mr. B. forthwith made application at the police office for her apprehension, and she is now awaiting her trial in Bridewell.

SOMEWHAT SUSPICIOUS.—Under our marine head, in last Friday's paper, was a statement, purporting that a small schooner, belonging to Edenton, which had touched here on her return from Alexandria to North Carolina, while beating out of our river had sunk so suddenly that the Captain and crew had barely time to escape in the boat, without being able to save the captain's chest, which contained the proceeds of the cargo and his clothing, or any thing else except the clothes they had on.

We have now to state, that the schooner has since been raised and towed up by our enterprising townsman, Mr. Joses Buckman, who immediately called a survey on her, and it was soon ascertained that she had been scuttled! The captain's chest was in its place, with one or two old garments in it,—but the proceeds of the cargo could not be found. The captain's report that the schooner sunk while "beating," is contradicted by the fact that she had her anchor out. The schooner is called the Happy Return, the Captain's name Asa Hendricks; and she is owned by him and Dempsey Livermore.—Norfolk Herald.

ACCIDENT.—On Friday afternoon a laborer employed on the Boston and Providence Rail Road, named William Tainter, took off his clothes, with the intention of bathing, and drove into the water where it was only about eighteen inches deep, by which his neck was broken and he died instantly.

We learn by the Little Falls papers, that a very destructive fire occurred at that place on the 1st inst. Loss estimated at from $10,000 to $12,000.

Mary Shaban, alias Kelly, alias Lewis, was tried for stealing 5 sovereigns and $4 in money from John Roach, and acquitted.

Charles Leiss, was arraigned and sentenced to 6 months imprisonment in the penitentiary, on a conviction at a former term of obtaining goods fraudulently by imposing himself upon tradesmen as Chester Jennings, of the City Hotel.

William Jackson, alias Jesse Thompson, and Jim Williams, (blacks) were tried for burglariously entering the house of Mr. Sniffen, and stealing a pair of andirons, a shovel and tongs, and found guilty.

Michael Gorman, charged with assault and battery on Thomas Jorjee, was acquitted.

POLICE.

(Reported for the Man.)

MONDAY MORNING, 4 o'clock.

Oscar F. P. Rice, from Boston, brought in as a vagrant and lunatic. Discharged.

Samuel D. Douse, had been charged by some blacks with beating a little black boy; but the boy denying his having been beaten by Douse, or of having any knowledge of him, he was discharged.

John Gerick, and Joseph Gooshe detected by Mr. O. Willett upsetting hand carts and boxes in Pearl street. Discharged.

John Beran, from Kilkenny, brought in for being drunk, and beating a woman at the five points. John thought he wasn't quite as drunk as some he had seen; he had only taken a drop of this country's liquor which was stronger than he had expected. Fined $1; no money, committed.

Patrick Lynch, charged by Mr. McDermont, of 208 Elizabeth street, with frequenting his house without his consent, and abusing his family. Held to bail to keep the peace.

Isaac Wilson brought in on complaint of Alexander McKiver, who charged him with assaulting himself and beating his wife, and attempting to strike his child with a chair. Committed.

James Trainor was accused by his brother Bernard Trainor, of causelessly assaulting and beating him, and cutting his head with a stone. Bernard relented when he saw his brother about to be escorted to bridewell, and forgave him and he was discharged.

John Killong, brought in drunk; no witness, discharged.

Lawrence Dawson, tailor, found drunk in the street. First offence; reprimanded and discharged.

Charles S. Oliver, a dapper gentleman in black, was complained of by Mag Scott. Mag told a doleful tale of wrongs and outrages:—she had been enticed from her lodgings at the five points by the prisoner, who, under a pretence of conducting her to the residence of a minister, for the purpose of being made one flesh according to the rights and ceremonies of the orthodox Mother Church, led her into a lone place, where he proposed to dispense with the ceremonies before spoken of, and commence their course of wedded life forthwith, after the form and usages of another Mother Church. To this Mag demurred; whereupon her affianced but false hearted swain began to abuse her and finally "beat her scandalous." The magistrate discharged Oliver, and recommended Mag to seek redress in a civil suit for breach of promise.

MYSTERIOUS.—On the 8th of January last was landed from schr. Sun, Capt. Nickerson, one of the regular packets between this port and New-York, a case marked "X. Messrs. Boorman & Johnston, Merchants, New-York, this side with care." Not being called for, it was left in the store of Mr. George Dana, No. 13, Long wharf, where it remained till yesterday, when it was opened and found to contain a half barrel, in which was the body of a boy apparently about 7 or 8 years old, preserved in spirit. The body was wrapped in a cotton cloth, and tied round with a cordline.

The coroner's inquest was held by Prince Snow, Esq. yesterday afternoon, but the jury were unable to come to any conclusion under the circumstances as to the cause of the child's death.

The body appeared to be much emaciated, and many were of opinion that the child must have died of a wasting sickness.

We understand that the case was shipped at this port for New-York, but not being called for, it was returned to Boston without having been landed from the vessel.—Boston Mechanics' News Room Bulletin.

In reference to a paragraph in the Boston papers, stating that a box, with the address of Boorman and Johnston of this city, had been opened in the warehouse in Boston where it had long stood uncalled for, and that it was found to contain a dead body—we have received from those gentlemen the following explanation:—

It is true that a box marked X. was forwarded by us on the 26th December last, to Emerson & Harvey, of Boston, for Dr. Mussey, of Hanover College,

N. H.; which box was sent to us by Mr. W. C. Chandler, of Philadelphia, with instructions to forward it.

Of its contents we were ignorant; nor can we tell why it was not called for by the consignees in Boston.

Dr. Mussey is professor of anatomy in the College of Hanover, and we believe him to be a gentleman of the greatest respectability.

Very respectfully, yours, &c.

BOORMAN, JOHNSTON, & Co.

New York, 6th Sept.

BANKS.—The National Intelligencer contains a general abstract of the State Banks in the several states and territories of the Union, compiled from returns made in the years 1833-34 to the legislatures of the several states, and from estimates; together with statements of the number of Banks, and the amount of capital authorised since the said returns were made out. From this it appears that the number of State Banks were as follows:

With a capital of $170,122,792 12 paid in.—The number of Banks chartered, but not in operation when the above returns were made, is 43, with a capital of $30,270,090. Total banking capital authorised and paid in, $200,322,791 12. Notes in circulation, $77,438,782 82. Specie and specie funds on hand, $17,081,704 65.

FROM JAMAICA.—We have papers from Jamaica to the 15th ult. No serious disturbances had taken place from the operation of the Emancipation Law, which went into effect on the 1st. The negroes on a few plantations at St. Ann's refused to work, for a time, but afterwards came to terms, and order was restored. We have been favored with the following extracts of letters received in this city:

Kingston, Aug. 10, 1834.

I am sorry to say that the negroes in St. Ann's are getting very bad; they are determined not to work. The troops and police of that parish are on the estates, keeping guard. The steamer sailed on the 8th with 160 more soldiers to go there. Kingston and the rest of the parishes are quiet up to date, but there are fears that the mutinous spirit will spread.

Kingston, Aug. 14.

More than 25,000 negroes have refused to work on the estates. So far, they have committed no higher offence,—submitting to their 30 lashes, for no greater number can be legally inflicted. It is said that there is a prospect of bringing them to terms.—Journal of Commerce.

DOMESTIC ESTABLISHMENT OF MOHAMMED ALI PASHA, THE PRESENT RULER OF EGYPT.—Mehemet Ali, born in 1769, at Cavale, brought with him from his native place one wife, Amina Hanum; she bore him four children: of whom two, viz., Toussein Pasha and Ismael, are dead; and two are living, viz., Ibrahim Pasha, aged 45 years, and Nazly Hanum, aged 38, widow of the Defterdar, Mehemet Bey, who has no children. Amina Hanum, now dead, is described as having been a most amiable woman, to whose good temper and invariable kindness, Mehemet Ali owes much. As the Mohammedan law allows four wives and numerous concubines, Mehemet Ali, at various periods, married three other wives, now living, viz., 2. Shan Shafa Hanum, a Georgian slave, who bore him four children, all dead; 3. Nurace Hanum, also a Georgian, but no children; and, 4. Selwy Kalfa Hanum, a Georgian slave, mother of Zensab Hanum, now nine years old.

His harem is arranged in the most magnificent, yet in the most orderly style; there are between 90 and 100 of the most beautiful slaves to be found in the East, and 12 musicians and 12 dancers, all girls under fifteen years of age, who are taught, the former to play on every sort of instrument, and the latter to dress in the costume of every nation, and to dance according to that costume. There are at least 300 females in this building, which adjoins the palace, besides between 40 and 50 eunuchs, and various Arab menial slaves. When he quits the divan and enters the harem, one of the young slaves, with a silver wand, is in waiting to receive him, and upon his appearance announces his arrival to the assembly. He then marches through a double row to his seat, where he is complimented and fêted; a female secretary, taught to write well and keep secrets, attends him to write his dispatches, and occasionally others read translations of the most remarkable articles from the London and Paris papers. At night, while he sleeps, half of the fair slaves are in continual wait, and three at his head to keep away the muschetoos and flies. The utmost regularity and order are observed; and punishments, such as flogging—even death by strangulation or drowning, are inflicted by the black eunuchs. Curiosity in looking out of the windows, &c., is one of the greatest offences. It may be a satisfaction to persons who commiserate the fair prisoners of the harem, all of whom value the customs of Europe, to learn that it is a frequent practice to give them as wives to officers, and that many an orison is uttered for that blessing, as they then become important in their husband's houses.

James Ryans, who has been carrying the Man in the 5th Ward will do well to call at this office.

THE ROSE UPON THE LEA.

A boy beheld a lovely rose,
Rose upon the lea!
Fair as morn when first it glows;
Near to see the flower he goes,
And right pleased was he.
Rose, sweet rose, sweet crimson rose,
Rose upon the lea!
Said the boy, "I'll pluck thee now,
Rose upon the lea!"
Said the rose, "I'll prick thee so,
Thou'lt remember me for wo,
And I will not suffer thee"
Rose, sweet rose, sweet crimson rose,
Rose upon the lea!
And the boy he plucked it rude,
Rose upon the lea!
Though the rose pricked all it could,
Oh! and ah! it did no good,
Gathered it must be,
Rose, sweet rose, sweet crimson rose,
Rose upon the lea!

MISS UPON THE LEA.

PARODY.

A boy beheld a little Miss,
Miss upon the lea!
Fair to look upon he thought,
Fairer, sure, there ne'er was caught,
And right pleased was he.
Miss, sweet Miss, thou pretty Miss,
Miss upon the lea!
Said the boy, "I'll kiss thee now,
Miss upon the lea!"
Said the Miss, "I'll scratch thee so,
Thou'lt remember me for wo,
No! I will not suffer thee."
Miss, O Miss! thou haughty Miss,
Miss upon the lea!
But the boy he caught her rude,
Miss upon the lea!
Though the Miss scratched all she could,
Oh! and ah! it did no good,
Kissed she must be!
Miss, scratch, Miss, alas sweet Miss,
Miss upon the lea!

Influential in the life of Napoleon was the letter m. The names of six of his marshals and (as known to the writer) of five and twenty generals, commenced with M., viz: Murat, Moncey, Massena, Mortier, Macdonald, Marmont, Miollis, Montbrun, Mauton, Morlet, Merle, Mermet, Musnier, Mathieu, Marchand, Milhaud, Maison, Merlin, Morand I & II, Menou, Margaron, Maier, Molitor, Meunier, Mancune, Marcognet, Morin, Marulez, Mareausin, Menard, Monnet. The first battle of Napoleon was at Montenotte, the last at Mont-St-Jean; besides, he was victorious at Milleesimo, Mondovi, Marengo, at the Moscowa, at Montmiral and Montereau. Milan was the first and Moscow the last hostile capital, which he entered victorious, but Madrid and Moscow were his ruin. Montholon and his first valet, Marchand, accompanied him to Helena. Murat was the first who revolted. Egypt was lost by Menou. Moreau was some time his rival. The names of his three ministers were Maret, Montalivet, and Mole; the name of his first Chamberlain, was Montesquies. Malmaison in France was his last residence. Captain Maitland brought him to Helena. H. S.

It is with pleasure that he informs the public that he has now engaged the services of one who is fully competent to the task, and is therefore prepared to execute any orders for Ladies' Shoes that may be entrusted to him, at his establishment, 309½ Broadway, between Duane street and the Hospital. ## WOOLLEY'S PATENT PREMIUM BEDSTEADS.

Persons desirous of purchasing Bedsteads, whether the sofa, chair sideboard, counter, or ordinary, will find it to their material advantage to call and examine those manufactured at the corner of Broadway and White street, by E. S. WOOLLEY. The ordinary Bedsteads of his manufacture have sacking bottoms so constructed as to be tightened with a key—an invention universally pronounced superior to any other plan for the sacking bottom Bedsteads. The Cot Bedsteads are of equal finish and pleasing appearance with the ordinary bedsteads; have sacking similarly constructed with them, and can be taken down at will with the utmost ease and rapidity. Woolley's Sofa Bedsteads, for beauty, durability, economy and accommodation, defy competition—they will contain a durable sacking bottom bedstead, with bed and bedding, without the least injury to their beauty or use as a parlor sofa. These bedsteads have been considered of such decided superiority, as to uniformly receive the first premiums at the last three successive anniversaries of the American Institute. Attention is respectfully invited to the "Chair Bedstead," invented for the accommodation of the sick. This invention has proved so successful as to receive the general approbation of the Medical Profession, and is of such great benefit to persons confined to the bed, that it is believed every family would avail themselves of its use if they would but call and examine its utility. More explicit description is deemed needless, as persons wishing to purchase will call and examine for themselves, and the proprietor is confident that all, upon observation, will be convinced of the advantage in economy and comfort to be derived from Bedsteads of his manufacture. my24
